Counselor-In-Training (CIT) Program

Grades 8 - 10

This program is for teens ready to take on a leadership role and care for children in a camp setting. With staff guidance and encouragement, CITs will collaborate with campers, lead games and crafts, and assist on field trips. Besides helping campers in your community, being a CIT is a great experience for young resumes. With two sessions of pre-camp training and two-week session options throughout the summer, your teens are sure to find a leadership opportunity that fits their schedule.

Counselor-In-Training (CIT) Leadership Training

Leadership Training is required to participate as a CIT and incurs an additional cost. Participation in leadership training is required prior to the CIT's first day at the program. We are offering two sessions of pre-camp training for our busy CITs. In the same way we require our Camp Counselors, Supervisors, and Coordinators to go through training every summer, we also expect our CITs to go through leadership training every summer (even if they have already attended leadership training in the past summer). Teens should register for the first session of Leadership Training in May to select from any of the camps hosted throughout the summer. Those participating in the June Leadership Training are eligible for camps beginning June 22.

Once trained, CITs will follow their camp's specific schedule, which may differ from one camp to another. The CIT Coordinator will visit all CITs during their sessions to provide observation and support.

SCAW is comprised of 50-minute art workshops. It is a “build your own morning” camp. Participants can join any time between 8 am and 11 am, but they do need a consecutive schedule. If participating in more than one class, a 10-minute transition time between each workshop allows students to use the restroom, eat a snack, and socialize; counselors and teachers are there to monitor the students. Classes are limited to 14 students and taught by qualified artists and teachers. Modifications to instruction and lessons will be made based on individual and class needs.
